I feel what I gained from this amazing opportunity was a better skillset to tackle audiovisual material challenges, awareness that establishing relationships with community members can go a long way to being trusted to maintain Native Hawaiian cultural materials, and most importantly friendship that provides the sharing of knowledge and support of one another.

My experience at ‘Ulu‘ulu was absolutely wonderful. The staff are so welcoming, knowledgeable, and competent, and the collection is unique and priceless. I feel so fortunate that I was able to spend the last several months at ‘Ulu‘ulu, and I hope to continue my learning of Hawai‘i’s moving image history.
